My django-dev.py file looks like this: print(__name__) print(__version__) #!/usr/bin/env python from django.core.management import execute_from_command_line execute_from_command_line(sys.argv) In my terminal, when I type manage.py, I get an error message: -bash: manage.py: command not found How can I fix this? A: Like so: #!/usr/bin/env python from django.core.management import execute_from_command_line execute_from_command_line(sys.argv[1:]) Note the addition of the sys.argv[1:] slice, which excludes the executable name manage.py. Q: Missing strcpy in linked list I am trying to insert an element into a linked list, but I am getting a segmentation fault. The program should display the element in one of the linked list's " nodes. " But I think the problem is with the strcpy, I cant see it though. I use gcc to compile and run the program. I have two files linkedlist.h and linkedlist.c #ifndef LINKED_LIST_H #define LINKED_LIST_H struct node { char *s1; struct node *next; }; typedef struct node bir ticarat arazilarına gedir ki, usulüstü alimlik But for some reason when I do this it says: Error: TypeError: Error #2007: Parameter children must be non-null. at flash.display::DisplayList/removeAllChildren() at Item/removeItem() Please help me fix this. Update: I made it work in my script. With this line of code: var doc:Document = new Document(); I am able to get the URL of the file, so I know the problem is not my HTTP request, so the next part is I am not sure why I am getting this 'Error #2007' on this line: var doc:Document = new Document(); Thank you. A: Document is a flash object, that you should make sure you have imported from the flash library (in your case you have it in your actionscript tab of the code, so you should be good to go). Anyways to answer your question, you can make a simple function that makes the HTTP request and return the URL. AFTER celebrating the release of a new music video last week, independent Australian band, Climates burst onto the music scene with the release of their song 'Final Countdown' in July. The band's debut release 'Back Door Man' will be released on August 15, which sees them leaving behind their rock and punk-rock roots. "We wanted to move away from a punk rock sound and go towards a rock and roll sound," frontman and guitarist, Jordan O'Hara said. The band, along with their musicians, are enjoying the first taste of success after they recorded some demo tracks in their spare time. "We recorded it at the start of last year," O'Hara said. "I had no idea what to expect, but I recorded and recorded and one of my friends put it on Soundcloud and it took off like a rocket." The band's second single, 'Back Door Man' was inspired by O'Hara's impassioned screams of guitar riffs into a microphone. O'Hara created lyrics out of personal experiences and emotions. "I'm a big fan of Led Zeppelin, Stone Temple Pilots and Queens 570a42141b
