Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a device that prevents unauthorized use of a gate lock that is provided on a gate of a retractor, a parking gate, or the like, which is driven through a cable and which allows the gate to be opened when the cable is pulled. 2. Description of the Related Art A device is known, for example, from Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication No. 61-260076, in which a lock is locked or unlocked by opening a key from the side of the lock housing of the device. The key is installed in the lock housing so as to move in the direction of a rotational axis, and is provided with a lock releasing gear in the outer periphery. In order to unlock the device, the key is pulled in the direction of the rotational axis and is then turned in the direction of the force applying gear. With this, the lock releasing gear engages with the force applying gear and the lock releasing member is rotated. As a result, an immobilizer drive part (a drive shaft) of the
