Yet, in the course of their work, most of these investigators devote only a small fraction of their time to a detailed study of one BMA, at one temperature, at one time of day, under one constant environmental condition, etc. Thus, a large number of BMA specimens whose contribution to the work of the investigator may be more than "nothing" are lost in the process of establishing and maintaining a single sample. Moreover, the later "time-consuming" measurements are effectively prevented by the lack of an adequate rapid observation tool. The instrument or apparatus proposed herein will permit the study of a large number of specimens in a very short time. During that period of time the investigator can devise his experiment. The apparatus will allow him to continue his experiment without interruption, within his laboratory facility, whenever and wherever he wishes.Q: Identify and delete old pictures on an SD card I want to know how to identify and delete old pictures on my SD card. It's a 32 GB card but the number of images and videos is increasing every day. Today when I found out what they are, I want to delete them. I know that in Windows Explorer you can right-click a folder and select the "Send to Recycle Bin" option. Is there a similar option to do that in Linux or Mac? I am using Ubuntu 14.04 (Xubuntu). A: Try using Shot
