Proshow Producer Style Pack 5 Free ~REPACK~ 18

i was a fan of the previous version (which was free, as far as i can see) but this new version is a big improvement over the previous. i'm very impressed with the new features, especially the ability to export directly to web and even frame as you export in photoshop or premiere pro. that's a must-have feature for me. nice to see the ability to create groups of images and share the same effects to group of images. this is great but there's no way to share "shared" (the same effect used on all selected images) styles - proshow is by far the best slideshow app around. i use it professionally at work and am a big fan of their new "universal" style systems. when i use other slideshow software i like to tweak slideshows i've created. proshow allows me to quickly change all images in a slideshow to an effect. i can also quickly change all "shared" styles to a single effect. a few months ago, proshow introduced us to their designer style creator, and now they've added a new product in this area as well. it's called "proshow designer style packs" and the pack in this case is called "your turn to make animations!" it's pretty simple; you select one of the 10 animation scenes from the pack, drop your photo or video, specify the duration of each frame and then click the button to convert it into an animation. proshow designer style packs are a great way to create your own slideshows without writing code, and if you know some html, css and javascript, it's possible to customize the animations further. without question, proshow producer is the easiest way to make high-quality video slideshows from your photos, videos, and music. and because it's built into the camera that is producing the video, it's also very fast. it's a matter of a few seconds to make a video, and proshow producer makes it easy to do in just a few minutes. proshow producer makes it easy to build digital media shows, record yourself or a friend or family member for a quick video audition, create videos for sale at your own web site, and produce dvd shows. if you want to explore the very latest additions to proshow producer, check out this roundup of recent releases.
